

Marcus Sander, CFA

Managing Partner

With extensive experience and network in the capital markets

Marcus Sander is a founding partner and managing director of ALLINCAPITALS. During his studies in economics at the University of Hanover, he discovered his interest in the capital markets. He worked for 18 years in responsible positions as an equity analyst in the TMT sector. In addition, he coordinated the cross-sector research product for companies in the DACH region for Sal. Oppenheim and Macquarie Securities from 2009. He was awarded several times by independent providers for his work. During this time, he accompanied a large number of IPOs and was involved in various other capital market transactions (including the integration of Freenet and Mobilcom, the sale of the majority stake in WMF AG to KKR).

Exciting change of perspective from a corporate point of view

Subsequently, he worked for Talanx AG in a leading position in the Group's Investor Relations department. He organised - together with Carsten Werle - the capital market presence for 5 years and was the contact person for international investors and analysts. Most recently, Marcus Sander was able to contribute his many years of capital market experience as CFO at crossinx GmbH, a Frankfurt-based digital service provider. As CFO, he was responsible for finance, human resources, quality management and risk management and organised the successful sale to a listed Belgian group in 2021.

Marcus Sander has close contacts within the investor relations community and a strong network with investors, especially in the TMT and insurance sectors, as well as with generalists from Germany and abroad.

Lower Saxon in Frankfurt

Marcus Sander, born in 1967, has lived with his partner in Frankfurt for 20 years, which he appreciates for its internationality and open-mindedness. He is business fluent in English and enjoys using his French in the heart of Provence.
